

Head, Heart and Hands, Bring Together Christian Thought, Passion, and Action
By Dennis P. Hollinger

Three Expressions of Faith

	Faith of the Head	Faith of the Heart	Faith of the Hands
Key Element	Cognitive	Emotion	Action
Christianity is . . .	“a set of beliefs, doctrines and ethical understandings —a worldview to which one adheres” (17).	“feelings, passion, affection and deep spiritual experiences” (21).	“an outward expression of divine realities, particularly in witness, service, justice and acts of mercy” (26-27).
Conversion is . . .	“a transformation of thinking” (17)	“a shattering of the soul. The Believer encounters God in a deeply personal, living, dynamic fashion, so that feelings and inclinations of the heart are forever changed” (21).	“an exchanging of an old way of life for new patterns of existence within the world” (27)
Goal	“to cognitively know and defend the Christian understanding of reality” (17)	“Christian growth is perceived as an increasing awareness of the presence of God and an unleashing of divine power within . . . focus on personal repentance and faith, growth in personal holiness and a daily appropriation of God’s grace within” (21, 24).	“In the process of doing . . . hearts are curiously transformed and thinking is solidified” (27).
Key Verse	Romans 12:2	Luke 24:32	James 2:14-17
Motto	I think , therefore I am.	I feel , therefore I am.	I act , therefore I am.
